THE PATROON'S DESCENDANTS All Going Over to the Catholic Church be

NEW YORK, May 31.—[Special.]—A coremony of peculiar interest occurred at the seven o'clock mass at St. Patrick's cathedral this morning, when Archbishop Corrigan, clad in the red restments of the church, ordained Rey.
Henry Van Rensselaer, of the historic Albany family, as a member of the priesthood. Mr.
Van Rensselaer is a convert to the Roman Catholic's religion from the Episcopal ministry.
He appeared before the archbishop clad in white, and received the priestly robes of office directly from his superior. In concluding the ceremeny, the archbishop put into his hands the chalice, patena and wafer, to signify the power of saying mass. After this, the young man made his yows of obedience to his superiors in the church, having previously recited the apostles creed. Nearly a score of priests took part. All the candidates had spent the previous night in fatting and prayer. Father Van Rensselaer will say his first mass at St. Francis Xavier's church tomorrow morning He has become a member of the Society of Jesus, and his special field of labor will be as a missionary among the Indians.
The young man is a grandson of General
Stephen Van Rensselaer, the last of the Albany aptroons. His father, late General Henry Van Rensselaer, was a graduate of West Point, and a brigadier general in the war. On his mother's side the young priest is also very highly connected. She was a daughter of exGovernor King, of this state.

highly connected. She was a daughter of exGovernor King, of this state.

Rev. Mr. Van Rensselser's course in esponsing the Catholic faith has met with much disfavor among the members of the Rensselser family. The young priest's aged mother, according to a statement made by one of the Van Rensselsars today, is greatly distressed over the matter. The friends of the family have been especially surprised at his step. The priest is a handsome young map, talented and well qualified, it is said, for the duties of the office to which he has been chosen. The members of his family have, for years, been attendante at the chorch of the Holy Communión, which is presided over by Rev. Henry Mottett.
This place of worship is quite free from high church ritualistic forms. Consequently the astonishment of the Van Renselsers was great when the oldest sister of the present convort, Miss Euphemia, went over to the Catholic faith, and ultimately became a sister of charity. Subsequently another sister. Mrs. Waddington, also became converted to the Catholic faith, and them Mr. Waddington, Now the brother and ultimately became a sister of charity. Subsequently another sister. Mrs. Waddington, also became converted to the Catholic faith, and then Mr. Waddington. Now the brother has been ordained to the priesthood, and the stricken mother has been left without one child of her own faith. A member of the Ranselser family said: "I don't know but this trouble will kill his mother."

Henry must be about 38 years old. He graduated at the Episcopal theological seminary here six years ago, and commenced studying for Catholic orders. Euphemia is a very ardent Catholic. She went to see Pope Leo XIII, and he blessed her. Then she asked him what she could do for the Catholic church, and he told her to win over as many of her family to the faith as she could.

With the President.

Washington, May 31.—A prominent official, sindy disinterested, who has talked with the midel states supreme court, caused by the aft of Justice Woods, said to a representative of the associated press today, that while president had decided to give the place to south, he is satisfied that there is nothing its constitution, law, or precedents, which mess the selection of the appointee to the miss included in the circuit to which the decided to give the place to south, he is satisfied that there is nothing its constitution, law, or precedents, which miss the selection of the appointee to the miss included in the circuit to which the decided in the circuit to which the decided in the court is self makes the missing was assigned. The official explicitly hered that a judge appointed from one is assigned to a circuit in an entirely difficult section of the country, and also, that the avacancy occurs in a particular circuit, has been frequently filled by an appointant from a state altogether outside of its midiction. In demonstrating this assertion, sendical said that Judge Taney at the time this death in 1864, precided over the fourth wolf, which included the states of Maryland, fet Virgins, Virginia and North and South wellins, but instead of selecting his successor am one of those states the president appoint 1 Judge Chase, of Ohio, who was assigned the first circuit. The Question of Instrumental Music in the Church Discussed by Presbyterians, Philadelphia, May 31.—The question of instruments! music in churches will not stay settled in the general assembly of the Presbyterian church. It came up again today in the discussion of the report of the general committee on home missions. In the course of the discussion on the report, general charges of unfaithfulness upon the part of missionaries were made by Rev. S. Kennedy, creating comething of a sensation. The burden of his complaint was that they had used instrumental music in the services, "in disobedience," he added, "of Christ, So long as uninspired melody is used," he continued, "The church will not contribute to home missions." A somewhat sharp debate followed and in a brief defense of the report. Rev. J. R. McCallister, of Massachusett, made light of Mr. Kennedy's charges and declared he was "tired of this waving of the bloodyshirt."

To bring this point formally before the as-Church Discussed by Presbyterians,

To bring this point formally before the as-sembly, Rev. J. G. Carson, seconded by Rev. Geo. C. The explanation did not seem to satisfy Rev.
Mr. Brown, and he was disposed to complain.
"I can't see that the situation has been improved," he said. "There is nothing to prevent the continued use of instrumental music," As no one seemed disposed to further argue the point, the subject was dropped. Church extension was discussed at some length and the report on that subject was fav-

TWO COMPLAINTS BEFORE THE RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS.

ages on Account of Seing Forced to Leave a "Jim Grow" Car. Etc.

WASHINGTON, May 31 .- A complaint has been received by the interstate commerce commissioners from Wm. H. Councill, a colored man, directed against the Western and Atlantic railroad company, in which he avers that on account of his color he was forcibly ejected from a first-class car after having paid for a first-class ticket. He asks that the commis-sion award him $25,000 damages, and such other relief as it may deem proper.

In an interview with Commissioner Bragg, in relation to this complaint as published in the Evening Star, Mr. Bragg said:
"I know Councill well. He is one of the brightest and best of our colored citizens. He is a staunch democrat, and canvasses the state at every election for the democratic ticket He is not a man who desires to push himself forward because of any ambition to obtain social equality. He is modest and unassuming. He is a gentleman. When I was president of the Alabama board of railroad commissioners, I required railroads to furnish first class accommodations for all passengers who paid first class fare. There was a fearful kick against it, but I stuck to it and enforced the order. They have no right to ex-act first class fare from a colored man and then give him fourth class accommodations. The result of my order was that railroads had to fornish separate first class cars for first class of these very rallroad companies came up here and endeavored to pursuade the president not to appoint me upon this commission because had taken a stand in favor of what I regarded as justice to the colored people. That was the only point they made against me, but the president did not seem to sympathize with them in their opposition to me. This complaint is not against any Alabama railroad, it is made against the Georgia Central. Perhaps, as a burlesque, or with a view of making Councill's complaint ridiculous, a white citizen of Georgia Central refused to permit him to ride in a "Jim Crow" or us the car set super for colored ness. Central refused to permit him to ride in a "Jim Crow" car, as the car set apart for colored passengers is called. The complaint has not yet been received, but the complaint has not yet been advised that it is coming. In terms it follows the complaint of Councill, alleging that the complainant paid first-class fare and therefore had the right to ride in any car, but when he sought to enter the colored car, he was prevented by railroad employes. The white citizen complains that he was discriminated against because of his color, that had he been a negro he could have traveled in the "Jim Crow," car.

The Atlanta and North Carolina Railway The Atlants and North Carolina Railway company has filed an application for a suspension of the fourth section of the interestate law, as far as it affects Morehead City and Kingston, N. C., averring that at both those points water competition will ruin its business unless the relief sought is granted.

I. H. Barrett, president of the State Farmers' Alliance of Minnesota, transmits a long list of requests by the executive committee of the alliance looking to a vigorous enforcement of the interestate commerce law, especially that part interstate commerce law, especially that part relating to the long and short haul. The Alliance takes the ground that such business interests as can be sustained only by reason of the suspension of the fourth section ought not to be sustained at all. It is better that the business ness of the country be left to the natural law of trade than that a few favored persons in certain places should be able to organize and earry on colossal enterprises because of advantages in use of railways of the country.

Pitteduc, May 31.—The iron and steel manufacturers of this city will make an appeal to the interstate commerce commission from the classification of certain specialities made by the trunk lines commission at a recent meet-ing held in New York. The classification is in the nature of a reduction on the fifth class in the nature of a reduction on the fifth class articles, but did not include hoops, bands and sheet iron, fencing, plain wire, axles, springs, links and pins. These articles have heretofore been considered in the fifth class and the manufacturers claim that not to include them in the reduction is a gross discrimination.

An Attampt to Blow Up a House with Dynamite.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 31.—At about 2:30 this morning an attempt was made to blow up the shaft building of the Pittsburg and Cleveland Gas, Coal and Coke company, at Davidson station, Southwest Pennsylvania railroad, about three-fourths of a mile north of Connellsville. A bomb made of a one and a half inch gaspipe, filled with dynamite and plugged with an oak plug, was placed under the building and fired. The bomb was not placed far enough under the building to accomplish the object sought and no serious damage was done. The pumper, one fireman and a watchman were in the building at the time when the explosion occurred; they ran out and were fired upon. There were three and possibly four, men in the party, but none were recognized. After firing about a dozen shots at the men who were in the building, they ran toward Connellsville. The dynamiters are sapposed to be strikers, and belong about Connelsville. There can be no reason assigned for the act except for pure deviltry, as there was no work being done, and no attempt to work, except pumping water out of the mines. Dynamite.

HARTSVILLE, Tenn., May 31.—[Special.]—Yesterday was a day that will long be remembered here. Dehaven's circus was advertised to appear, and a very large crowd was present, estimated at five thousand people. By the time the performance began the tent was crowded, and rain began falling in torrents. Twenty-five or thirty Macon county roughs were present, all drunk, and with the opening of the show they began fighting, cursing and drinking. They formed a circle in the center of the tent, and passing bottles of whisky around, drew knives, sticks, and pistols. A dozen police attempted to quiet the row, but in vain. A number were stabled and bruised, but none fatslly hurt. The row was so great that the show was forced to suspend the performance, and they cancelled the appointment for the night performance. There seemed to be no cause for the riot, except a general drunken desire to fight.

New York's Cotton Exchange.

New York, May 31.—The annual report of the president of the cotton exchange, read at today's meeting, shows that transactions in actual cotton reached 313,607 bales, against 483,977 in 1835, and 533,607 in 1834. There are 545 members, of whom 441 are active. The balance in the gratuity fund is $45,106 and the treasurer's balance $3,725. The exchange building is said to be the jbest paying for rental purposes down town, in proportion to the capital expended. New York's Cotton Exchange.

COTTON WAREHOUSE BURNED. A Large Building Destroyed by Fire in New

NEW YORK, May 31.-A large, 8-story brick storage warehouse, of irregular shape, situated in the block bounded by King, Charlton, West and Washington streets, and its val-nable contents of cotton rags, wine and general merchandise was almost entirely consumed by fire tonight. The loss is difficult to estimate, but the present calculation places it from $250,-000 to $300,000. A gang of workmen were busy on the ground floor of the building just before six o'clock, and one of them started to go into an adjacent hallway with a lamp in his before six o'clock, and one of them started to go into an adjacent hallway with a lamp in his hand. He had scarcely reached the hall when the lamp exploded and the scattering of blazing oil quickly crept from bale to bale of cotton, standing all about the room.

An alarm was promptly sounded and a second and third, but the inflammable nature of the contents of the storehouse, its immense area, extending as it did through to the four streets, which bound the block, and a strong breeze, combined to produce a mass of flames. The building had a frontage of twenty-five feet om West street, a depth of 150 feet on King street, the rear extension running firrough to Washington street and a wing covered the court yard, running north to Carlion street. All these wings were connected by doorways cut through partition walls and the fire turned and twisted in and out through these openings until every section of the building was in flames. Water towers were erected, extension ladders run up; the river fire boats Zopher, Miller, and Havemeyer, were called into requisition and lines of hose arranged on the roof of an adjacent storehouse, but all efforts to save the building proved unavailing, and at 11 o'clock, though the fire was under control, the building and contents were gutted and the roof, floors and sections of the outside walls had fallen in. Streams of water will be kept playing on the runns all night, but days will elapse before the fire will be absolutely extinguished. Fortunately, the brick walls kept the fire from spreading to other buildings, but a store and warehouse on the corner of Weshington and King streets, were flooded with water.

At the time of the fire there were about with water.

At the time of the fire there were about 4,000 bales of cotton in the building, a majorty of it belonging to the Morgan steamship company. This cotton was valued at $50 to $60 per bale, and about thirty per cent of its value will be a loss. The other goods stored in the building belong to about twenty-five or in the building belong to about twenty-nee or thirty different owners, and were mainly insured. The building was leased by John S. Richards and was formerly occupied by Booth & Edgar, sugar men, who still own it. The loss on the building will be about $50,000, and with damage to contents, the loss will probably equal $275,000.

The Court Still Engaged in Trying to Obtain a Jury.

New York, May 31.—The work of getting a jury for the trial of Jacob Sharp for bribing the aldermen of 1884, and which was interrupted by a three days' recess, was continued today in the court of over and terminer. The accused was early in attendance. The respite did not seem, from his appearance, to have afforded him much relief, as he looked worn and anxious. Decoration Day seemed to have had its effect upon the entire court, as the justice, clerk and jury all had an air of weariness about them and all were a little late in putting in an appearance. When the wheel was given a turn by Clerk Wash and he was about to call the name of the jurnor drawn, Carl Kohn weller, who had been selected as juror No. 6, arose in the box and addressing the court said:

THE DEMAND OF THE YOUNG MEN OF PARIS.

Beulanger's Order of the Day on Retiring From the War Office-Remarks of the New War Minis-ter-Speech of Rouvier in the Chamber of Deputies-Other Foreigh News.

PARIS, May 31.-General Bonlanger, on retiring from the ministry of war, issued an order of the day, thanking those who co operated with him in placing the country's defenses in a condition to stand any test, and orging officers of the army to show devotion to their professional duties and fidelity to the constitution and laws. In conclusion, he says "I shall be first among you to give an example ooth military and republican discipline."

"I shall be first among you to give an example o both military and republican discipline."

General Ferron, upon assuming the duties of the war office, also issued an order of the day, in which he says:
"I count upon the absolute devotion of all and am confident that the various arms of the service will continue to resolutely progress. The armles which surround us continue to increase in military training and for us to remain stationary would be a backward step, which would seriously imperit the country's interests. Like my predecessors, I shall unremittingly pursue a policy of military retorm and shall devote my whole time to increasing the defensive forces of France and the republic."

Moderate republican papers cordially welcome the new ministry. The monarchist press receives it rather favorably, but radical and independent papers are decidedly hostile.

The redical left intimated that they would interpellate the government on a question touching its policy, and would demand urgency. M. Rouvier agreed. M. Jublen thereupon made a speech in which he requested the government to define their programme.

M. Rouvier replied that the ministry would firmly apply existing legislation on education. In regard to economy in the public expenditures they promosed to retrach sixty million

The Fighting in Afghanistan.

St. Petersure, May 31.—News has reached Merv from Herat that the Ghilsais have defeated a thousand of the ameer's regular troops and captured five guns and considerable baggage. Dahariel, commander for the ameer's recess, was captured and beheaded. The inhabitants of the province of Herat and adjoining districts are greatly excited over the success of the revolted tribe, and it is stated are ready to join the Ghilsais.

A telegram from Merv confirms the statement that English engineers are actively fortifying Herat. The walls and trenches are being strengthened and redoubts built to resist artillery, the Afghans displaying a hatred of the English, and the ameer has been obliged to appoint military efficials to protect men employed on the works. The aim of the English authorities is to enable a garrison of 10,000 men at Herat to withstand a siege for ninety days.

With Endless Suffering
Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICUEA RENEDIES twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $200.00 (two hundred collars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Fsoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off me all the time, and my suffering was endless, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring worm, pspriasis, etc. I took and . Earsaparillas over one year suid a half, but no cure. I went to two or three dectors and no cure. I cannot praise the CUTICUEA REMIDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of CUTICUEA, and three bottles of CUTICUEA RESOLVENT, and two cakes of CUTICUEA SOAP. If you had been here and said von would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis. (Picture number two "How to Cute ekin Diseases"), but now I am as there had the money. How had no purpose. I am all well I serstched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of sacoud naure to me I I thank you a trousand times. SWEPT BY MAD FLAMES.

WEISBEIN'S AND LOVELL & SON'S BUILDINGS BURNED.

Brenshton Street's $170,000 Blass- Two S ted and Three Others Damaged Lack of Water Besponsible for Much of the Loss Three Firemen Isjured The Losses, Etc.

Fire broke out in David Weisbien's dry goods store, No. 153 Broughton street, at 9:30 o'clock last night, and before it was got under control three buildings were burned and $125,000 in property was destroyed. The fire was discovered by a little negro boy, who stood in front of the building and cried "Fire!" "Fire!" until a crowd collected. A second later smoke was rolling from the windows of the blidding in the plays had been blown third floor in front. The glass had been blown from the frames and greet volumes of thick, black make poured out. Back in the lane the scene was different. From the second-story win-dows the flames were leaping and quickly communicated to the floor above. The fire had a good start, and it was evident that it had been burning was different. From the second-story windows the flames were leaping and quickly communicated to the floor above. The fire had a good start, and it was evident that it had been burning for some time before it was discovered.

AN ALAEM TURNED IN.

That was the condition when the alarm was toned in, and ishough the firemen responded promptly the flames had much 'the start of them, and it was apparent that the department could do nothing more than check the fire and prevent its spreading. The engines started to work, but the pressure of the water was very light, and very little could be accomplished. The streams just reached to the second story windows and fell over the sills, hardly touching the flames. By this time the whole of the rear portion of the second and third floors were on fire and burning intriously.

The flames shot out of the windows with a force that showed how strong was the pressure of the sin osphere within. The fire burned unchecked in the rear portion, and worked its way steadily to the front. Looking into the front windows could first be seen just a faint pink hue, then a deep dark red was perceptible through the smoke, then the flemes burst in volumes from all three of the upper windows, lighting up the street for blocks away. The water was then flowing more freely through the pipes and the streams were turned on the blaze, diving it tack into the building, buronly to burst out again with renewed violence.

The fire by this time lad reached the front of the second story and from all of the upper windows the flames poured out and reached the front of the second story and from all of the upper windows the flames poured out and reached the front of the second story and from all of the upper windows the flames poured out and reached the front of the second story and from all of the upper windows the flames poured out and reached the front of the second story and from all of the upper windows the flames poured out and reached the front of the second to the again.

At 10:15 o'clock the building be from all sides. At midnight only the smoking roins and the bare and blackened walls were left.

An enormous crowd gathered in the street, but was kept back from in front of the burning buildings by the police. A drizzling rain was falling, but curiosity was stronger than a dislike for a weiting, and through it all the crowd stood watching the kaleidescopic changes in the terrible picture. When the explosion occurred there was a rush in every direction. Every one thought that the walls were falling and hurried to get out of danger. Had it not been that all eyes were turned to see the fall, and that ever one saw the walls standing, there would have been a fatal stampede, but a panic was fortunately avoided.

There are everal theories as to the origin of the fire, but none are satisfactory. The stores were all closed except one, and none of the employes at Weisbein's can remember that any combustible was left exposed. Weisbein's was toe middle of a row of three stores. East of him was S. Krouskoff's millinery establishment and west the hardware store of Edward Lovell & Sons, and west of them, but in another building, was the jewelry house of M. Sternberg.

Where the fire started.

Where the fire started.

Where the fire started.

M. Sternberg.

The fire originated in the rear of the second story of Welebein's store, but what started it is a mystery. Because of the rumors of incendiaries the report was circulated that it was set on fire, but for this there seemed to be no foundation. Mr. Weisbein said that there was, nothing in the store that he knew of that could starta fire. There was no light, and the matches were locked up in the cash drawer in the front of the building. Mr. Charles D. Singleton, chief clerk, said that he was the last man out of the honse last night. He locked up at 6:35 o'clock, and before he left all the lights were put out, and apparently there was nothing to start a bleze. There were some oil side lamps in the building, but they were scarcely ever used. Mr. Edward F. Lovell said that he was sitting in his store when he heard the/ery of fire. He ran to the rear and saw the flames coming out of the windows of Weisbein's, but he had no idea what started the fire. There were a few pounds of powder in the store and a stock of cartridges. These were moved out at once, but Mr. Lovell did not think that the fire would spread to his building.

THE LOSSES AND INSURANCE.

not think that the fire would spread to his building.

THE LOSSES AND INSURANCE.

The less by the dre is heavy and the insurance will by no means cover it. The three builtings in the row were owned by Mr. Edward Lovell. The one he occupied was built thirteen years ago and the others were added later. They were valued at $15,000 ach. Two of them were completely guited, and the other was badly damaged. The loss will amount to something over $30,000, and they were insured for $10,000 each.

The building occupied by S. Kronskoff was owned by A. S. Cohen, trustee, and was valued at $8.000 and insured for between $3.000 and $4,000 in the Southern Mutual. S. Krouskoff's stock of millinery goods was valued at $35,000. It was partly damaged by fire, but was flooded, and will be almost an entire loss, except a few cases of ribbons that were savid. It was insured for $17,000 Mr. Weisbein's stock of dry goods was valued at $60.00 and was insured for the tween $17,500 and $19,000. Some of the goods on the lower floor were not burned, but they were so thoroughly dreached and smoke stailed that they are comparatively worthless.

Edward Lovell & Sons had a $55,000 stock of smoke stained that they are comparatively worthless.

Edward Lovell & Sons had a $55,000 stock of hardware, and their loss is about $40,000. They corried $25,000 insurance. M. Sternberg had a $55,000 s ock of jewelry, but it was damaged only to an inconsiderable amount. Altogether the loss was about $173,000 and the insurance $94,000.

Are estable for stalling goods.

Arout 10 o'clock, when their Fernaniez and a number of the firemen ran into the building in which the fire started, with a line of hose, they discovered a man, who seemed to be hiding som thing under his coat. They seized him by the shoulders are merched him into the hands of Officer stiggins.
Evidently the man was not a criminal, for he could not stand the gaze of the immense throng that that turned its eyes upon him.

He gathered his coat about the lower part of his face, drew down his hat and covered his face with his hends and arms. Lieutenant Green and Officer Stiggins took him in charge and carried him to the police barracks, where a charge of stealing jewel-solgeins dook aim in charge and carried him to the police barracks, where a charge of stealing jewel-y and lace from the store of D. Weisbein was entered sgainst him. A Morning News reporter called on him later and found him asleep in his cell. When questioned he made an open confession. He save the name of Martin Havert, "What were you doing in the store?" he was isked.

"Mat were you doing in the store." he was asked.

"I went in to help the firemen," he replied. "I saw the case of jewelry, but I could not get it into my pecket, so I put it under my coat. I had no lace."

"You took them to carry to a place of safety?"
"No." he replied. "There is no use beating arcord the bush; I sook them to keep, and if I could have sot away with them to keep, and if I could have sot away with them I would have kept them." "The safety is well-known on the Bay, and has bone a good reputation. He was a steady worker and had won the good-will of many prominent merchants. At one time he was yardmasser of the tentral railroad, under Master of Train Service Starr.

THREE FIREMEN INJURED.

tentral railroad, under Master of Train Service Starr.

THERE FIREMEN INJURED.

Not all of the firemen escaped without injury, and it is a marvel that not more of them were seriously hurt. Several were cut about the hands with glass, but the only bad injuries were those received by J. J. Connelly, foreman of company No. 4, who was burned with hot tar; Gus Derby, of No. 4, who suffered similarly, and was also injured by the corcussion caused by the explosion, and Peter Wakefield, of No. 3, who was burnt about the hannes. Wakefield and Derby were both burnt at the fire on Lincoln and New Houston streets, ten days ago, and had just recovered. Connely and Derby were rendered unconscious by their hurts, and were taken to Meyers's cigar store, under Metropolitan hall. Dr. Purse was called in: they were recuediated and their injuries cared for Athe of them are dan creualy injured.

ROBSON'S SHORTAGE. The Full Story of the Washington County

Sensation. SANDERSVILLE, Ga., May 31 .- [Special.]-On Saturday last the comptroller general forward-ed again to Solicitor-Genecal Rogers the fi fas of 1886, with instructions to make the money on them at once; also withdrawing an indulgence granted on the fi fa of 1857, giving as his reason that certain of the bondsmen for 1887-8 had applied for release from said bond.

All of the fi fas, aggregating about $6,500, have been placed in the hands of the sheriff. Sheriff Wall says that Mr. Robson promised to pay the 1887 special tax deficit of $300. The other fi fas, at Mr. Robson's request, Sheriff Wall says, he has agreed to hold until tomorrow before making levies. The actual deficit on the general tax of 1886 is, in round numbers, $1,810, on special taxes of 1886 $429, on special tax of 1887 $300, aggregating $2,529, with interest from the time the several sums should have been paid at 20 per cent per annum; so that the whole matter will not fall far short of $2,800.
Mr. K. J. N. Walden, one of the bondsmen on them at once; also withdrawing an in Mr. K. J. N. Walden, one of the bondsmen for 1887.8, has sent in a formal application to the governor to be released from his obligation,

Quite a ripple was added to the general sensation caused by the affair by a rumor to the effect that one of Mr. Robson's bondsmen, who effect that one of Mr. Robson's bondsmen, who had signed the $2,400 note upon which the money was presumed to have been borrowed, saked Mr. Robson where the note was, and for some inexplicable reason Mr. Robson could not remember the name of the party to whom he had transferred the note in Atlants. This bondman seemed resigned to the inevitable and said he expected the sheriff to make the lovy teneurous. Mr. Robson's statement is as follows:

That he had been unfortunate, and when he secretained that he was short of funds to meet the demands against him, he called his bondsmen together at Tennille and made them a plain statement of the facts. He gave to them deeds to 1,845 acres of land and about $800 worth of rent and other solvent notes. Also turned over to them his horse and buggy. He took from them a note for $2,400 and went to Atlanta for the purpose of negotiating a loan on it to pay off the claim against him. When he offered it for that purpose he made a plain he offered it for that purpose he made a plain statement as to what he proposed to do with the money. The parties to whom it was offered called on the comptroller, and when informed that the books showed a balance against him of over $6,000, declined to make the loan until the credits were allowed. This forced him to return to Ean lers wille and to procure the certificate of the ordinary as to the credits, which reduced the balance against him to shout $2,500. When he nary as to the credits, which reduced the bal-ance against him to about $2,500. When he returned to Atlanta with his papers Mr. Sam Goode pronounced the showing satisfactory, and telephoned in Mr. Robson's hearing to Comptroller Wright that the money would be forthcoming. Mr. Wright telephoned back for Mr. Robson to come at once to his office, and from a conversation with him Mr. Robison arranged, and returned with that belief to Sandersville The return to Sandersville of the fi. fas fc. A DELICATE operation was recently performed by a Buffalo surgeon on a patient who had spffered from neuralgia for eight years. It is a notable issue, and the Banner-Watchman deserves all the pleasant things that are said

SINCE 1803 no less than one hundred and fifteen theaters have been burned in the United States alone. None of these fire have been as disastrons to human life as some of those that have occurred in Europe. At the burning of the Ring theater in Vienna nearly nine hundred lives were lost. Leb man's theater, at St. Petersburg, was burned in 1836, and seven hundred people perished. The most disastrous theater fire ever known in this country was the burning of the Brooklyn theater a few years ago, when about three hundred people lost their lives.

CONSIDERABLE comment has been made on the remarkable change which has recently appeared in Mr. Eugene Field's special column in the Chicago News. Its usual sparkling variety has given place to wooder statements of insignificant facts. A private letter from Mr. Field explains the change. He says that when he first took his position on the News the editor-in-chief, Mr. Melville E. Stone, insisted upon farnishing the name, "Sharps and Flats," for his column, Mr. Field did not like the title, and has always protested against it, but without avail. "For two years," we quote from his letter,
"I furnished nothing for my department but sharps,' and, as Mr. Stone would not conrent to confer upon my column a different raption, I have concluded to live up to the title, and am now running the 'flats.' "

A PHILOSOPHICAL statement of what is called the color line in religion is made by the Brooklyn Citizen as follows: People at the north who are in the habit of viewing the religious color line as a matter referring to one or two negroes and a thousand or more sof whites are apt to look with much disfavor on the religionists of the south because they have opplions of their own on this subject which do not in all cases accord with those of their northern brethren. At the south the color line is not an institution which is fostered by one race. It grows out of the prejudices and the preferences of both races. The white man is not more anxious to have the colored people worship by themselves than the colored people are to do that very thing. So far as the question of mixed religious societies is raised at all, it is the work of northerners, who, judging the situation from their own standpoint, regard a separation as somewhat unchristian. This, too, in spitk of the fact that separate organizations are common enough at the north. People at the north who are in the habit of

The Interstate Agricultural Conven-The inauguration of this scheme is one of the best conceptions of Governor Gordon and Commissioner Henderson.

No convention or congress of representative farmers since the war has resulted in so thorough an investigation of the causes of depression and the remedies therefor, as this proposed convention to meet in this city on the 16th of August next, promises to accomplish. The plan of it is well conceived. The machinery that is now being put in motion is well calculated to enlist the best practical minds of the cotton states in the effort to infure new life into our lagging rural indus tries. The committee on report and programme is nearly complete, only two states —Alabama and Mississippi—being yet unrepresented. The governors of those states doubtless understand the importance of prompt action in the appointment of their committee men, as well as the necessity of selecting at once the county delegates to represent their people in the convention. Several states have already sent in their complete lists of delegates, and the indications are that the convention will be one of the largest in point of numbers, as well as ability and influence, that has assembled in a long time. The importance of having every state fully represented by her ablest and best men, is too evident to require argument. We hope to be able in a short time to give the full programme of the convention, as an indication of the character and scope of the investigations that will be undertaken, to the end that every delegate may come prepared to enter intelligently and

The men who have thus cut short their own lives have, as a rule, stood remarkably well in the service. Some of them were veterans who had won honors under the flag of their country. Others were young men of rare promise for whom the future seemed to be stored with blessings. Comparatively few of the suicides in the army and navy have been of that reckless, dissipated class, whose death by their own hands is not calcalated to create surprise. What has been the cause of these repeated losses to the army and navy by self destruction? Such occurrences are rarely known in time of war; and this fact suggests what is doubtless the explanation of a considerable per cent of these suicides. A United States officer has very little to do in time of peace.

The cavalry are kept somewhat engaged by the marauding Indians on the frontier, but the artillery men, most of the infantry, and the naval officers are absolutely unemployed for a greater portion of their time. This leisure gives to officers with ambition and capacity fine opportunities for study, and ingenious inventors, or entertaining authors.

With a great many officers, however, excessive leisure is seductive to habits of dissipation and extravagance. One effect of peace and consequent leisure falls on the entire service. It is the wearisome slowness of promotion, the sensation that life is at a standstill. This feeling is calculated to be-numb the aspiring spirit, and to turn hope into despondency. It has, no doubt, beer fatal to some men of strong ambition, who possessed also sensitive and melancholy dispositions. A dull, lazy life through a daily routine of petty duties is enough to depress almost any nervous nature. That it ha been the cause of some of the suicides in the army and navy cannot be doubted.

Such an effect would not be accomplished soon, but a long chaffing under depressing conditions might induce a mental state that

Mr. Henry K. Doty, one of the most prominent citizens and the leading hide and pelt dealer in the northwest, has just returned from a European tour. He has been absent about four months, and during that time he has made a visit to every Edropean country and has become thoroughly ac-questred with the customs, manners and lan-guages of the different people. AN IOWA INFORMER.

How He Fills His Pockets and Serves the

From the Des Moines, Ia., Leader. From an obscurity that has even yet not been penetrated, Frank Pierce emerged and for two years he has repeated all the infamies, with all the success, of Titus Oates. Every house and home in this city has been in peril of his lawless invasion. The searches he has made upon no otherwise. er warrant than his unsupported oath may be to y the hundred. In the short period of two month he has made one hundred and fifty searches that his own returns show to have been fruitless, sav of fees to himself and the magistrate that empower ed him. With so many fruitless searches made in so short a space, it is not going far to say that many must have been causeless also. He accompanied his acts with every circums ance of insult and outrage. Even the bed of women lying in, and the bed of women in the agonies of death were no hallowed to his ruthless hand. At the dead hou of night he broke into peaceful homes and dragged out a husband and wife to confine them with crim inals of the deepest dye, and with a refinement of cruelty that seemed impossible to his low intelli-gence, he locked up the wife apart from her husband and forced her to share the cell with crea tures whose very presence is pollution to an honest woman. In our courts his oath every day sufficed to fasten the odium and the penalty of crime upon the yietims of his hate or greed, and all protesta tion or testimony of innocence was powerless against his accusation.

The Last Man.

From the Detroit Free Press. Thomas Campbell, the "Manners of England' poet, has a copy of verses with the above caption; but he is after quite a different person. The indi-vidual in question now is the last confederate soldier who stood at his post on the lines in front Richmond when that city was evacuated on the beautiful spring morning of April 2, 1885. A lovely day it was, one of the loveliest of that bland and frostless spring, yet there were many thousands now dead and some thousands still living in whose memory it stood, or stands, as the gloomiest and most miserable of their lives, with the sole excep-tion of the same day of the following week.

Who was the last man on guard is a point easie to settle than who was the last to bring up the real I the retreat from the confederate capital. For ough the order given was drawal of the pickets at daylight, men fully armed and equipped, singly or in rquads of two or three, took a leisurely breakfast at different houses in the city and then lounged out north and west to rejoin their commands, certainly as late as 8 o'clock. And at leas one of the men on duty either did not receive, re ceiving, did not understand, or, understanding, decided not to obey, the order of withdrawal. The former of these explanations we believe to be the true one. As the federal army of occupation ad vanced on the north side of the James, its fore-most men descried in the slant rays of the early sun a tall, gaunt figure by the roadside, some three miles below Richmond, that bade them pause, without saying a word or giving any sign. He was a member of the home guard, a man about fifty; six feet three inches high, built on the Ichabod Crane principle, the same size all the way up. or down; rather nervous in manner, yet, on th. occasion, as solemn and steady as one of the ancient oasks beneath which he stood. Resting upon his prehistoric musket he calmiy looked down upon the invading column. To none of these doe the idea of summoning him to surrender seem to have occurred. They stared at the apparition for few momer ts, and then burst into a unanimou cheer. Others, as they filed by, took it up, until our solitary friend became the recipient of an ova-our solitary friend became the recipient of an ovation perhaps the most extraordinary of the war.

The name of the man was H. K Gregg, a Virginian from the valley, by calling a printer, but latterly, in stress of types, an employe in one of the departments at Richmond. For many years he had been foreman of the Winchester Virginian, and afterwards editor of the Conservator, of Berryville, a few miles from that town. By health and constitution he was unfitted for the field, but, simple in character and honest of vurnous he had the courcharacter and honest of purpose, he had the cour age of his convictions. He had some eccentricitie among them that of eating but one meal a day among them that of eating but one meal a day. This habit, born of dyspepsis, was not a bad qualification for a confederate soldier, whose rations in 1865 consisted, when they consisted of anything, usually of a "pone" of moldly corn meal.

Gregg went to Baltimore and died there a year or two ego. He ought to have a monument representing him in the act of overlooking Ord's advance.

The Origin of Folk-Tales. The Origin of Folk-Tates.

It is not denied that some tales have been handed down generation after generation, nor that some may have been disseminated in the manner mentioned by Mr. Lang. It is exceedingly unlikely that, by either process, they would retain their original form. Belief in magic, however, we know has prevaited almost universally among primitive peoples and is hardly extinct yet among the common people of the most enlightened countries. Nothing was so common in savage life as for one person to be in peril at the hands of another, or from wild beasts, storm, flood, lightning or tornado, all of which were equally persons to the savage apprehension. Escape from danger, we savage apprehension. Escape from danger, we may assume, was not rare. Why should not take of his adventures be full of the savage belief of the story teller? The reader has noted the modern air of most of these stories. Clearly there has been air of most of these stories. Clearly there has been an adaption of primitive beliefs to modern conditions. Has not the same process gone on among all peoples, in all times, until advancing civilization drove out the old be iefs? The origin of these beliefs I cennot here discuss. We know they existed, and that with people of a given development they have had a remarkable likeness the world over. My purpose is merely to show that these sories may have head a representative. ness the world over. My purpose is merely to show that these stories may have been separately invented, that there is no more reason to suppose a given prople has borrowed them than their other tales. Is there not quite as much diversity in them as in our modern love stories? Have not the poor hero and wealthy heroine always existed and had before them the problem of outwifting the cruel parent? Has it been necessary for the Englishman to go to the Frenchman, Italian, Arab or Persian for the simple materials for a story that is forever being acted out before his own eyes?

THE HAMILTON GAMBRELL CASE. The Other Side Presented by an Arkansas

From the Arkansas Gazette The force of purblind partisanship is illustrated in the efforts of a few journals in that state to prove that young Gambrell, who was recently killed in a night affray on a bridge in Jackson, killed in a night sifray on a bridge in Jackson, Miss., fell a marryr to the cause of prohibition. He was, as he had a right to be, a prohibitionist. He intensely distilked Colonel Jones S. Hamilton, who opposes prohibition without being at all fanatical on his side of the question. Believing Colonel Hamilton intended becoming a candidate for state senator, young Gambrell in his paper, the Sword and Shield, most bitterly denounced him, applying every approbrious epithet, including charges against his personal bonor, that the fartilcharges against his personal honor, that the fertility of his imagination could suggest.

That such a method in that community should lead to bloodshed, everybody, including the rash, impetuous author, of the denunciatory article ex-pected. The cause disappeared in the gross per-sonal assaults. And one night, closely following somal sessuits. And one night, closely following the most bitter of fall the editor's demunciations. the assailant and the object of his denunciations met on a bridge. A deadly conflict ensued, and young Gambrell was carried from the scene dead. Who made the first hostile demon stration may never be known. The testimony is not very clear. The one fact clear is that he fell a victim to that blind, unreasoning, victous method of controversy that abandons facts and argument, and resorts to bitter personal denunciation calcu-lated to arouse the worst passions in the human breast. As the Memphis Ledger so well says in an editorial inspired by this and affair:

One little article written more to gratify personal, vindictive feeling than in the interest of morals and the public welfare, stirred up a sarfie that drenched the ground with good blood and shocked the capital and the whole state of Mississippi. The press can be as bold, as plain, as fear lers as needs be in discussing politics, principles and men without becoming personally offensive The indiscreet, hot-headed, self-conceited editor offen brings far more trouble on his friends and on a geommunity than he would be worth if turned into gold. The license of the press neutralizes much of the good that has been and might be accomplished.

General Sherman Falls in Love.

From the Hartford Courant. General Sherman has just returned from his visit to Washington, and professes himself in the position of the Lancastrian lover to the York maiden. He has fallen in love with that wellmannered and gifted young lady, Mrs. Grover Cleveland. He met her for the first time in Wash-ington the other day at a cabinet dinner, and sat by her side.

"She is a very remarkable girl," he said, in deaccepting the dignity of her position with almo a queenly graciousness. I thought her very like was very much pleased. Mr. Bancroft, who is very found of her, remarked to me that it seems impossible for any bachelor or widower president to be elected a second term, and we both decided we'd hate to have this pretty creature turned out.

has not shown the slightest preference in friendships to her husband's political supporters and some of her most ardent admirers are the wives Sherman is one of her staunchest friends.'

After spending an hour and a half with her, tetc-a-tete, the next day he was still able to tell her at parting that he had seen a great many of the ladies of the white house, and not one of them was more his idea of what an American presi dent's wife should be than is this young and lovely

A Word in Sesson,

From the Americus, Ga., Recorder. In warm summer weather many persons feel In warm summer weather many persons feel an irresistible craving for something sour, and often gratify this desire by a free indulgence in pickles and vegetables made acid with vinegar. This demand for acid indicates a deficiency in the acid secretions in the stomach, and the demand for an artificial one is a natural one, but vinegar is not the best substitute. Lactiz acid is one of the chief agents that give acidity to the gastric juice of the stomach in health. This is the acid of sour milk, and therefore one of the best summer diet driuks that we can use is buttermilk. It satisfies the that we can use is buttermilk. It satisfies the that we can use is outcramic. It sausnes are craving for acids by giving the stomach a nat-nral supply, and at the same time furnishing in its cheesy matter a good supply of whole-some nutrition. A man will endure fatigue in hot weather better on buttermilk than any drink he can use.

A Timid Bird.

From the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle. One of the most timid birds in this portion of the world is the ordinary corn field crow. When mating they generally select some quiet spot, difficult of approach, and as far as possible from the haunts of man. But a nest has just been discovered in a tall tree just above No. I's engine house, which is visited constantly by a pair of crows. The birds act as if they had come to stay, and as the neighbors are kindly inclined, it is thought the colony will be increased very shortly.

Caught in the Vines.

A gentleman in the southern portion of the city is the possessor of a large gray eagle, measuring ix feet from tip to tip. The bird was captured by a party of hunters just below the city. They broke its wing with heavy bird shot, and it becoming entangled in some vines, they captured it, not, however, without a flerce struggle on the part of the king of birds.

From the Covington, Ga., Star.

The Covington and Macon cars have a list arrived at Monticello. This is an impersion and continuous anneurcement. They have been expected there for a long time; but, somehow or other they have had a hard struggle to get than We don't know why they have been so lay delayed. They have had many obstractions thrown in their way, and many obstractions thrown in their way, and many obstractions thrown in their way, and many obstractions overcome. In fact, they have had to have their danger signals flying all the while, ever since they first pulled out of Macon, across the beautiful sud historic Ocmulgee. Bai, whatever may have retarded their progress toward the ancient capital of good old Japper county, and whatever may have delayed them as long by the way; they have overcome all the difficulties at last, and have now arrived antily a Monticello.

The Strange Case of Mr, James F. Webster.

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 31.—The latest sensation in the city has been caused by the strange conduct of Mr. James F. Webster, a white man, who is highly educated and has a remarkable history. He is a native of East India, and has lived in England and Canada, where he was a minister of the Episcopal church for many years. He was very wealthy and was thoroughly educated in ancient and modern languages. Some years ago, while traveling in East India, he experienced a sunstroke, which nearly cost him his life, and by which his reason was permanently injured. After that he left the ministry and came to this country, and has been living in Greenville many years, A few years ago be had the misfortune to lose all his preperty, and this served to completely dethrone his it tellect at various times he has threatened the lives of persons, but he was generally regarded as harmless and no attention was given to his threats, until a few days ago he became more violent, and threatened to take tho life of a prominent minister, and the chief of police was applied to and went to the church yesterday, as it was reported that he might attempt to execute his threat in the church. Webster did not go to church, however, and this morning an affidavit was made before Justice Croft, charging that Mr. Webster was dangerously insane, and Dr. Wallace and Dr. Swandale were appointed to examine him. After the examination the y reported he was a violent lunatic, and an order was issued for his committal to the state as ylum.

The Irex, however, wins the first prize and the Thistle the second. The Irex, Neptune, Thistle, Queen Mab, Sicuth Hound, Wendur, Fox Hound and Genesta are entered for the chaunel race, which will be contested Saturday. The first prize will be 6350.

will be contested Saturday. The first prize will be £350.

The day was a splendid one, with plenty of wind, warm sun, and just enough sea to make the racing pleasant. All the yachts had to be towed to Cook lighthouse. On rounding it, the Thistle took the first place, setting her spinuskers. She had a fair wird all the way home. The Irex came next, then the Genesta and then the Wendur. They kept this order throughout the race. The Thistle covered the course in the quickest time, but lost first prize on account of the irex beating her time. The Daily News says:

There is little doubt that the Thistle isjtrying to over reach herself. It she goes on at the present rate it will take all her time to contend with anything on the other side of the Atlantic."

Mr. Belt, the owner of the Thistle, speaking at a barquet given by the Harwick race club, this evenica, said he felt that the undertaking of the American contest was anything but a light matter. It was a formidable ordeal. All he and his friends wanted was that the best yatch should win. LONDON, June 1.—The Standard this morning says:

"The race was one of the fastest ever sailed over the course, the distance being covered by the Thistie in 5 hours, I minute, 19 seconds. Standing in cruising trim, only an ordinary cruising crew was allowed, which was a great disadvantage to a heavily-sparred vessel like the Thistle, on such a day. Besides having to gibe three times there was a deal of shifting of canvass. The Irex was very cleverly sailed and well handled. She gained on Thistle every time canvass was shifted and well-earned the prize, but had the Thistle been sufficiently manned it is more than doubtful whether the result would have been the same. The Thistle showed well every point of sailing, especially on broad reach. Even the Wendur in her best form would have found the Thistle a hard competitor.

SAVANNAH, DUBLIN & WESTERN. Its Immediate Construction Now a Certainty.

New York, May 31.—[Special.]—The building of the Savannah, Dablin and Western railroad is more an assured fact today than ever. The United States Construction and Improvement company has actually undertaken the work, and in furtherance of immediate action has sublet the contract to Carpenter, Grant, Mundy & Co. These parties, I am informed, are strong, financially, and in every other way altogether reliable. All the outstanding indebtedness of the railroad company has been satisfactorily settled or provided for by the United States Construction company, and work will be commenced within the next ten days. Engineers, with a large force, will begin at Savannah, and build toward Macon. This is no sensational rumor, but a certainty, This is no sensational rumor, but a certainty, so far as responsible men can guarantee the accomplishment of such an enterprise with money and determination. The papers between all the parties in interest have been duly signed, and the present projectors are in real earnest, and amply able to carry out their purposes. .

Dr. Milner's Pet Fox.

From the Waynesboro, Ga., Citizen.

Dr. Milner's affections have of late wandered off and taken strong hold upon a pet fox. In order to have the little fellow near he perched him on a box near his prescription case, attaching him to it by a string. The little fox in kicking up his antics lost his potion, and as he fell, his string was not long enough to let him reach the floor, so he went through the legal forms of a hanging. He let no confessions, made no protestations of reformations, and we have no evidence that he died bewailing the ainful condition of those he left behind. Whether he will be busied in Poters' cld field, or the kind hearted doctor will rear a tablet to his memory, our reporter did not ascertain. From the Waynesboro, Ga., Citizen, not ascertain.

Sprinkled With Blood.

Sprinkled With Blood.

CAMDEN, S. C., May 31.—Something uncommon happened Thursday evening. A gentleman with his wife and a friend were driving, about one mile south of town, when all of a sudden the breeze stopped entirely and the temperature went up several degrees. The wife of this gentleman then remerked to him that there was blood on his ear, and on turning to hear her, he found that her dress had been spattered with semething like blood. It was scattered just like it had come in a shower.

Texes and Mexican Authorities Join in Brisking Up a Nest of Thieres and Murderers-Three of the Party Executed Escape of Several Bad Characters-Others News Notes.

BEOWNSVILLE, Texas, May 31.—At dawn yesterday morning, in the midst of a driving rain, the Balah cut-off above Santa Maria, Mexrain, the Baish cut-off above Santa Maria, mex-ican territory, on this side of the river and the refuge of about thirty desperate bandite, thieves and smugglers, was raided by forces from both sides of the river. Sheriff Bretof, of this county, and Deputy Clansner, of Sidalge, with about ninety rancheros and deputies ex-tered (and drove out the bandits, who met with a warm reception on the other side from a detachment of the Third Cavalry, under command of Colonel Nieves Hernandez. A sharp fight ensued, in which Colonel Hernaudez was wounded in the hand, one of his men killed and another wounded, One bandit was killed, several wounded and a number captured, several of whom are well known murderers, and were executed on the spot. A large amount of stolen stock was found, most of which was returned to its owners. Breto brought in and jailed two men, Florencia Almanzar and Dolores Canter. On account of dense brush, a number of noted criminals made good their escape. The blow is, however, a severe one to the disorderly and criminal element which had gathered in these cut-offs as they believed, safe from pursuits, ripe for any revolutionary plot, and maintaining them-selved by robbery and plunder.

General Morgan's Great Leap. Frem the Albany, Ga., News.

At Palmyra the banks of Kinchafoonee creek are high and precipitous. The highest bluff, a great rocky promontory that hangs over a deep and narrow stream, looms up far above the boatman, beyond the reach of the longest pole, as he glides through its shadow. This rocky bank rises to a perpendicular height of about thirty feeet, and is known as Morgan's about thirty feeet, and is known as Morgan's bluff.

In 1839 General Henry Morgan, our fellow-townsman, then the village schoolmaster of classic Palmyra, was discussing the death of Sam Patch, occasioned by his last fearful leap. The young pedagogue contended, in the face of all opposition, that the leap attempted was of easy and safe accomplishment by one of cool head and experience. He stated that he, bimself, had leaped over fifty feet into the rivers of his nerthern home. The crowd was incredulous, and the pluck and determination of young Morgan was thoroughly aroused by their jests at his expense, and he showed his spirit by proposing to leap into the Kinchafoonee from the highest point that could be found on its steep banks.

The party selected the point at which the test leap was to be made. The appointed day arriving, quite a crowd had collected to witness the feat. At the creek men would look down from the dizzy height to the seething waters below, and many joined in the attempt to dissuade the "fool-hardy teacher" from the rash attempt; but to no purpose, his determination was as fixed as the rocky beds of the stream. The leap was made, both feet foremost and head foremost, with perfect safety and apparent pleasure.

Ever afterwards the bluff has been called.

parent pleasure.

Ever afterwards the bluff has been called Ever alterwards the bluil has been called Morgan's bluff, and many times afterwards the young schoolmaster, in the spring season, after the duties of the school room had been discharged for the afterneon, would repair to the bluff and indulge the pleasure of a bath in the cool, clear waters of the picturesque Kinchafonese.

To this day no one has ever been known to jump from Morgan's bluff except General Henry Morgan.

An Old Church.

Taylor's chapel, five miles from the city, is, with one exception, the oldest church site in Glynn county—Frederica being the oldest. The church has been rebuilt two or three times. The first church was erected in 1810, and was burned down. It was built by the Forts, Gignilliatts, Burnetts and others. Scarcely any of these figure among those who worship there now. During the last war, in 1862, the church building was used for a commissary for troops, and during that time was often stored with sheaf rice, which was used for forage. During the past winter, when the church was overhauled for repairs, a few gills of this rice (rough) that had worked through the cracks of the walls, were found hidden away, and in a perfect state of preservation. Messrs. Lang, Lamb, and others, inform us that the rice was as perfect as when it fell From the Brunswick, Ga., Appeal. that the rice was as perfect as when it fell there, twenty five years ago.

The Natchez Explosion.

The Natchez Explosion.

NATCHEZ, Miss., May 31.—Thomas Anderson, who was injured by a boiler explosion at the Natchez cotton factory, died of his injuries last night. All other persons who were injured are doing well. S. S. Lees, engineer, was on the streets yesterday, and has apparently fully recovered.

The general belief now is that the explosion was caused by the boilers being struck by lightning, as a storm was prevailing at the time of the accident.

An Injured Speaker.

From the New York Sun. At a temperance meeting in Detroit the other day one of the speakers made this positive announcement: "God is a Prohibitionist." One of the most melancholly signs of the times is the rapidly increasing number of people who pro-fers to speak with authority concerning the opin-ions and designs of inscrutable Providence in matters of political economy, taxation, social science, and sumptuary legislation.

A Question Settled. HARRISEURG, Pa., May 31.—The supreme court today upheld a number of decisions of lower courts from which appeal was taken, denying the right of the state to tax mortgages. The decision cuts off about half a million dollars revenue, but settles a long vexed cuestion.

A MYSTERIOUS RACE.

Extensive Discovery of Relics of a Prehistoric People in West Virginia.

An extensive discovery of relics of some prehistoric race has been made in West Virginia, near the headwaters of the Guyandotte, on the property of a gentleman named Leitz. On this farm are scattered a number of mounds, or tunul, erected ages ago, by a people long since extinct. In each tumulus, on a level with the surrounding country and in the center of the mound, is a large crypt, which contains the bones of men and women. When discovered, a short time since, the skeletons were found in great numbers, many of them well preserved from the corroding tooth of time. Some of the bones were of unusual size and of great thickness. In the same crypts, by the side of the skeletons, were many stone hatchets, finit arrows and spear-heads and other indications of a primal war-like race. Fragments of pottery of peculiar shape were also found. These tunuil had undoubtedly been the burying place of prominent members of the lost race, chiefs, princes or savage potentates. In the immediate neighborhood of the mounds were found evidences of an ancient fortification. The outer line had evidently at one time been thrown up by these extinct people ancient fortification. The outer line had evidently at one time been thrown up by these extinct people as a means of defense from attack by other races of people. Within these walls innumerable pieces of bone, fragments of the skeletons of hundreds of people were found in all attitudes; among and around them spear-heads, arrow-heads, stone hatchets and other implements were scattered, covered with fragments of a conglomerate stone of a highly silicious character, which has enabled them to resist degradation and removal by water and the leveling powers of atmospheric agencies, otherwise the corroding influence of time would have removed all traces of these people. Outside in either direction lines and piles of bones and instruments of war were found. ments of war were found.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock

NEW YORK, May 31.—The stock market today was moderately active for the most part, but displayed considerable feverishness, and the result of the day's trading is not of particular importance to either side. Coal stocks showed more animation than usual of late. Reading was a great feature, and on very large transactions was firm to strong throughout most of the day upon an excellent exhibit of earnings. Some of the specialties showed marked weakness, and none of them made any material advance, although the number of low priced stocks dealt in was something unusual. Another attempt was made to influence values by manipulating rates for money which were bid up to 7 per cent toward the close. The opening was firm, with advances over Saturday extending to % per cent. There was considerable traequilarity. but and on very large transactions was firm to strong per cent. There was considerable irregularity, but the general list was inclined to heaviness. The afternoon was very dull, with little or no movement in prices until the last hour, when a little more life was imparted to the dealings, and the market closed firm though quiet. The total sales were 256 000 shares.

Exchange dull but steady at 4861/40488. Money easy at 43/67, closing offered at 4. Subtreasury balances: Coin $185,296,000; currency $15,289,000. Gov-

1.252 NEW YORK, May 81-C. L. Green & Co., in their report on cotton futures today, say: The one dominant feature of the market was the continued buying capacity of the bull clique. Everything offered has been freely and rapidly taken up, and, although fluctuating somewhat during the day, rates made and sustained an advance of 17@ 18 points, closing at about the highest,

THE CHICAGO MARKET,

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Produce.

Special to The Constitution.

CHICAGO, May 31—Receipts of wheat today were even larger than expected, and estimates also promised unusually large arrivals. Heavy rains were also a bearish influence and the child appa-rently had everything estainst them. They were rently had everything egainst them. They were prepared, however, and a large number of June shorts who indertook to buy in their stuff easily today, had to pay higher prices for it. Early in the day the clique concentrated their efforts on the support of June, but were aided very materially in sustaining the price of June by the large short interest in the crowd who undertook to cover, thereby bidding the price up on themselves. June started at 88%c, and in less than fifteen minutes sold to 88c. The other options opened barely steady, July being unchanged at 85%c. In the course of the first hour June eased off to 88%c, but July, which received some support from the clique, sold up to $5%c@85%c. An increase of 190,000 bushels up to 85%@85%c. An increase of 190,000 bushels in the visible supply was something of a surprise to the crowd, as a slight decrease had been looked for. However, as there was but little trading, July enly declined to &Mc, and continued between that figure and 8:3/c throughout the morning session. June was still 85% at the close of the morning session. A general covering of shorts on the afternoon board induced higher figures on that option. uly advanced to and closed at 86c. June also closed a fraction higher at 88%c.

July corn opened easier at 39%c. Toward the close of the forenoon corn became very weak, owing to estimated receipts of 550 cars for tomorrow, and a small decrease in the visible supply. The crowd were selling on the hypothesis that at the present rate at which corn is arriving the visible supply will show no increase at all next week. July sold down to 38%cc, but during the afternoon it was more steady and closed higher at 39%c.

Provisions opened firmer, July lard opened at 6.57% and July ribs at 7.17%, but toward the close of the morning session provisions became weaker, and July ribs sold down to 7.05 and July lard to to 6.47%. July ribs closed for the day at 7.07% and July lard at 6.60.

In the sixteen years that this road has been nuder the control of the present compay, it has never failed to pay the rental upon the last business day of each month.

THE SUPERIOR COURT,-The superior court The SUPERIOR COURT,—The superior court met yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, Judge Mirshall J. Clarke presiding. The case of Dr. Cook against the city of Atlanta and the Metropolitan Street Railway company was reneineded. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff and against the city for $20, The amount of damages claimed was the cook of the plaintiff and against the city for $20, The amount of damages claimed was the cook of the plaintiff and against the city for $20, The amount of damages claimed was the cook of the plaintiff and against the city for $20, The amount of damages claimed was the cook of the plaintiff and against the city for $20, The amount of damages claimed was the city for $20, The amount of damages claimed was the city for $20, The amount of damages claimed was the city for $20.

WILL NOT INTERFERE .-- Mr. Jesse Robson WILL NOT INTERFERE.—Mr. Jesse Robson, the tax collector of Washington county, against whom the couptroller-general has issued a fi. fa for some $2,800, the amount due the state, went before the governor yesterday and asked that the execution against him be suspended for thirty days. After fully considering the subject, the governor decided that he had no authority to take any such action.

A New Institution.—Yesterday Judge Marshall J. Clarke granted a charter to the Security Investment company, of Atlanta. The interporters are Francis M. Coker, W. A. Hemp-bill. John Keely, A. D. Adair, John I. Hall and William Hammond. The company designs doing a general loan business. The capital stock consists of $50,000 in $100 shares. The principal office of the company will be in Atlanta. The company is to be organized without delay.

A RAIN AND HAIL STORM .- Between two A BAIN AND HAIL STORM.—Between two soft three o'clock yesterday afternoon, a heavy rain and hail storm visited the city and its venity. The rain fell in torrents and bushels of hail came down. The storm was accompanied by lightning and thunder. Before the storm began the thermometer marked seventy-two degrees. In one hour the mercury fell ten points. The rain was a copious and staking one, and it came just in time to save the vegetable gardens. the vegetable gardens.

A SMALL REWARD.—Not with standing the very large crowd that attended Scott Thorata's entertainment night before last, the star resped only a small pecuniary reward for his labors. The net proceeds were divided equally among the players, and each one received the num of eight dollars. It is proposed to tender scott Thornton a benefit, and it is believed all the members of the company will consent to the members of the company will consent to play gratnitously. It would be a graceful thing for them to do.

REAL ESTATE AT STEGALL .-- Dr. H. L. Wilso, the Peachtree street real estate man, conducted a successful sale at Stegall yesterday. A large number of town lots were sold at highly satisfactory prices, quite a good deal of enthusiasm being manifested. Persons from Cartersville, Nashville and Atlanta were among the purchasers. One of the finest mineral displays to be found in the south was exhibited, the minerals having been taken from the surrounding hills and mountains. A plendid free barbecue was served at midday, the eatables being washed down by plenty of wine and cider from the Stegall winery.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—Shortly after the arfival of the Belle train on the Air-Line road, yesterday morning, Mr. W. W. Ellis, baggage master and express messenger, went into the effec of the Southern Express company to report. Just after he entered the office, the tin bux in which he carries his mail matter, way bills and revolver, accidentally opened and his reuniver fell to the floor. It was discharged just as it struck the floor, the bail passing through the calf of Mr. Ellis's leg. The result was a painful but not serious flesh wound. Mr. Ellis was taken to his home, 29 Yonge street, where his wound was dressed by Dr. Harris. Mr.
Ellis has been in the employ of the Air-Line for tome years, and is very well thought of by his superiors.

BOTH FEET CRUSHED —George Rouls fire.

Both Feet Crushed.—George Rouls, fireman on East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia switch engine, met with an unfortunate accidentatabout noon, yesterday, which will leave him acripple for life. Just as the engine was starting for the shops to remain during the mon hour, Rouls, who was standing on the rick at the side of the cab, sprang upon the side steps and caught at the hand rail. As he did this his foot slipped and he fell to the ground, his feet resting upon the track. The wheels of the engine passed over them, almest entirely severing them from his legs.
The ergine was stopped at once, and the enginer ran back to the assistance of Rouls who was found to be unconscious. He was taken at use to the Ivy street hospital where Dr.
Nicolson amputated the right foot and threequarters of the left one. The injured man was resiting easy last evening. Rouls is a single man, about 28 years of age, and is not supposed to have any relations in the city.

Offic Cumpersians.

OFF TO CUMBERLAND.—A delightful party of ladies and gentlemen will leave for Cumberland Island this afternoon at 3:45 in a special car by the East Tennessee railroad. Tae party will be chaperoned by Mrs. E. S. Ozerby, a sister of Mrs. General Gordon. Among the ladies who will be of the party are the following: Miss Allgood of Rome, Miss Bass of Colenbus, Miss Parsons of Detroit, Miss Richardson of New Orleans, Misses Maddox, Maude, Hemmond, Culpepper, Fitten, Orme, McGhee, Howard and Jones of Atlanta Among the prillemen are Messrs. W. T. Huguely of West Point Haydon of Louisville, Field of Canton, Marsh, Montgomery, Carter, Howall, E. lis, Hook, Clark, Sanders, Hopkins, Meador, Campbell and Hugh Gordon of Atlanta. A number of gentlemen who had hoped to join the party were prevented by tusiness engagements from doing so. A delegation from Macon will probably join the party when it reaches that city. The trip will extend over a week or ten days and will doubtless bighly enjoyed by all. All those who need to go with the party are requested to be at the depot at 3 o'clock.

WHAT THEY SAY.

PETITIONS AND AFFIDAVITS IN SUPPORT OF HOLMAN.

neipal Witnesses State That They Committed Perjury on the Trial of Holman-- The Patition Signed by Whitheld's Prominent Citi-zans-- What Will Be Done, Etc.

The governor has not as ye been able to take action in the matter of the application for commutation of the sentence of Holman, the Whitfield county murderer,

The effort being made in his behalf is a strong one, and it is safe to say that few atronger cases of the kind have ever been prestronger cases of the kind have ever been pre-sented to the governor of Georgia.

Everybody in Whitfield county seems anx-ious to see the sentence changed, the general feeling that there is doubt as to Holman's be-ing the real murderer. This feeling is shown in the petition which bears the signatures of 800 of the leading citizens of that county. It

S00 of the leading citizens of that county. It reads as follows:
To his excellency, John B. Gordon, governor:
The undersigned respectfully ask your excellency to commune the punishment of William Holman from the death penalty to imprisonment for life, for the following reasons:

1st. There were three other persons staying at the ginbouse at the time of the killing—Charles Patton, Lizzie Holcomb and Carrie Holcomb. Patton has been sentenced to imprisonment for life, Lizzie and Carrie Holcomb fave not been indicted; It is apparent that all aided in compessing the crime, all told different stories, and the Holcombs are of notoriously bad character. Defendant was convicted on their testimony, and it is utterly unworthy of credit.

2. The extended conclusion of the community is the form of the restimony, and it is utterly unworthy of credit.

2. The settled conclusion of the community is that all are implicated in some way, and that the exact truth in regard to the perpetrator and manner of killing is not known, and never can be, in consequence of the absolute want of credit due to the statements of those who have knowledge and can testife.

AN ATTORNEY'S AFFIDAVIT.

An ATTOENEY'S AFFIDAVIT.

Among the affidavis upon which the greatest strees may be laid is that of Hon. R. J. McCanv. one of the most prominent lawyers in that portion of the state. At the last term of the superior court of that county he represented the solicitor general. In his affidavit on file with the governor he says:

During said term deponent, at the request of the grand jury, went before that body to assist in the examination of Carrie and Lizzie Holcomb. Carrie was first examined as to the killing of Mailida Gudger, and testified in substance that on the night the girl was killed or died, she was in the house where all the parties stayed. That a while before daylight Holman got up and went down to fire the engine he was running. Some time afterwards, Matilda Gudger got up, saying her feet were cold, and she would go down to the engine to warm them, and did so. A while afterwards Holman came up and said (excitedly) that Tilida had fallen in the well. She further testified, that so far as she knew or heard there was no quarrel or unkind feeling between Holman and the Gudger woman, and that all she and her sister (Lizzie) swore on the trial about a quarrel between the Gudger woman and Holman, about his being the farher of her unborn child, and her demand that he should marry her, and his killing her on account of this charge, But that she was now swearing the truth. In

ENTIRELY FALSE,
But that she was now swearing the truth. In abswerte why she said her sister had sworn a lie auswerto why she said her sister had sworn a lie on Holman's trial, she said she and her sister had been told by a man that the murder would be laid on Lizzle, and "posted" them, as she expressed it, what tale to tell. Tois testimenty and the testimenty of Holman himself as to his innocence was heard by the jury on a charge against the Holcomb women. The jury then sent for Lizzle Holcomb, who, as I learned, was told that she need not testify unless she desired, and after being so instructed told the same story detailed above, as coming from her sister. I heard her admit that she had testified falsely on Holman's trial, and that she knew when she did so that it was false, but gave the same excuse for so coing that her sister had done.

If the testimony which has been brought to light since the trial is sufficient to warrant the besief that Holman may not, after all, be the murderer of the Gudger woman, the governor cannet do otherwise than grant the commutation. It is more than probable that Holman's sentence will be changed to imprisonment for life.

GOING TO MONTICELLO.

A Distinguished Party Which Will Attend The grand barbecue to be given on Friday next by the people of Monticello will be attended by quite a distinguished party from Atlanta.

The affair has been arranged as a celebration of the completion of the Covington and Macon road to Monticello, and promises to be of great interest. Sometime ago Governor Gordon accepted an invitation to be present. Mayor Cooper has received a cordial invitation for himself, for the members of the council and for the members of the chamber of commerce for the members of the chamber of commerce to be present as the guests of the people of Monticello, and it is probable that quite a number will accept the invitation.

The party will leave Atlanta on Thursday evening. The governor will probably go by the way of Flovilla, driving from there across the country to Monticello. He will probably return by the way of Macon.

As the people of Monticello have never before had an opportunity to entertain a real, fore had an opportunity to entertain a real, live governor, while in office, it is probable they will make this a big occasion.

At Hymen's Court.

At 7 o'clock this morning a marriage will be solemnized at St. Luke's cathedrial. Miss Kate Bleckley, daughter of Chief Justice Bleckley, will be married to Mr. Hubert L Culberson, a will be married to Mr. Hubert L. Culbersyn, a very prominent young lawyer of this city. At the conclusion of the solemn, but joyous rites, the bride and groom will leave Atlanta on the Richmord and Danville railroad, for Judge Bleckley's, near Clarksville, where a brief heneymoen will be spent. A large number of the friends of the two parties will witness the ceremonies.

SALE OF A NEWSPAPER.

The Atlanta, Evening Journal Bought by a Stock Company.

Yesterday afternoon Colonel John Paul Jones, owner of the Atlanta Evening Journal, sold that paper to a company of Atlanta gentle-that paper to a company of Atlanta gentlemen.

The Journal was founded four or five years ago by Colonel E. F. Hoge, and paid almost from the first is us.

Later, Colonel Jones and Mr. Wilson, of Toledo, became part owners of the paper, purchasing about two thirds of it from Colonel Hoge, Death 10 bed Colonel Jones of both his partners, and by purchase he came into pessesion of the entire paper.

The negotiations, which resulted in the sale yesterdsy, had been in progress for some days. The sale was made about one o'clock, and the new company will take possession of the paper after today's edition is worked from the press. Tomorrow's issue will be under the new management. The price paid has not been made public; but the persons most deeply interested in that matter appear to be satisfied all around. The stockholders in the new company are as follows: Hoke Smith, H. H. Cabaniss, Josiah Carter, Henry Jackson, Frank P. Rice, Charles A. Collier, W. H. Parsons, Jacob Haas and R. M. Pulsifer. M. Pulsifer.

A meeting of the company was held yester

A meeting of the company was field yester-day afterneon and an organization was effected. Mr. Hoke Smith was elected president of the company, Mr. H. H. Cabaniss was elected busi-ness manager and Mr. Josiah Carter was elected managing editor.

Mr. Smith was asked about the purchase and said:

"It is true that a number of gentlemen have joined together and purchased the Journal."
"How did they come to invest in newspaper property?" was asked.
"Our only purpose," replied Mr. Smith, "is to give the city a first class afternoon paper backed by sufficient capital to let the public understand that it will be a permanent feature in Atlanta journalism. We believe that such a paper will prove beneficial to the best interests of our city and give handsome dividends to the holders of stock. That is the whole story."
"What past will you take in connection with dards to the holders of stock. That is the whole story."

"What part will you take in connection with the publication of the paper?"

"We have selected two most excellent men to fill the responsible positions of managing editor and business manager. They are among the stockholders in the enterprise. The paper will be entrusted to their care. Of course I shall continue to devote my time to my law practice, but all the stockholders will take a lively interest in the paper and in every way aid the business manager and managing editor."

Turnverein Picnic. The Atlanta Turnverein Pienic.

The Atlanta Turnverein pienic at Icevile yesterday was largely attended, and, despite the unpleasant storm, was greatly enjoyed by all present. A large number of ladies and children went out on the morning train, and in the afternoon twenty-five or thirty gentlemen drove out in Chambers's four-horse wagon. The greater portion of the party returned on the 6:50 train last evening.

The advantage of this compound over the plain Oil is, that the nauseating taste of the Oil is entirely removed, and the whole rendered palatable. The offensive taste of the Oil has long acted as a great objection to its use; but in this form the zrouble is obvisted. The "Commercial" is located at No. 5 Feach-tree, and is run by C. D. Kinnebrew. Yesterday morning a man who gives his name as A. H. Thrasher went into the place and while there managed to get into a row with a gentleman standing at the counter. Seeing that the trouble between the two men was in a fair way to result in a first class fight, Mr. Kinnebrew stepped from behind the counter and endeavored to act the part of peacemaker.

Kinnebrew stepped from behind the counter and endeavored to act the part of peacemaker. Peacemakers often get the worst of it, and the present case is no exception to that rule. When Kinnebrew endeavored to restore quiet. Thrasher persisted in continuing the row, and, to make things more lively, struck at Kinnebrew. The blow fell short of its work. The scuffling brought to the scale Patrolman Abbott, who test Thrasher to the police station, where a case charging him with disorderly conduct was made. A similar case was made against Mr. Kinnebrew.

At the station Thrasher volunteered the statement that he had bought alcoholic liquor at the "Commercial" on Monday night, claiming that he had paid for it in the regulation anti-prohibition-days fashion. It was stated, also, that yesterday's trouble resulted from his inability to get more liquor.

Thrasher named two men who would, he said, corroberate his statements.

A case was made against Kennebrew for violating the prohibition ordinance.

was arraigned before Recorder Anderson yesterday morning.

day morning.
The offerse with which he was charged was The offense with which he was charged was the violation of a city ordinance which provides a punishment for any person who shall "at or near any public school house in this city, engage by conversation, signs or otherwise, the attention of any of the pupils at such school house to the disturbance of the same, and to detriment of the discipline of such schools."

The main witness against Humphries was Major Slaton, who identified him as the man who had, by his actions, been disturbing the scholars and teachers for some time past.

Humphries made a statement in his own behalf, but it did not satisfy the recorder, whe murmured "twenty and costs."

The preacher was paralyzed.

What Dr. Fox Says of the Recent Decision of the Supreme Court.

Yesterday afternoon a reporter of The Constitution called upon Dr. Amos Fox, armed with the following clipping from the Memphis with the following clipping from the Memphis Avaianche:

"The decision of the United States supreme court, rendered a few days ago in the matter of Green's driven-well patent, will have much larger results than appear upon its surface. It will strike the average man as a little peculiar that a royalty must be paid for digging a hole in the ground, and yet such is the fact. The case has been pending in the various courts for fourteen years, and in the meantime the pa'ent has run out, but under the decision the Andrews brothers are entitled to $10 royalty on each well in use 'hroughout that portion of the United States which their claim covared. In that territory there are in the neighborhood of 400.000 wells, which would make a total due the plaintiffs of $4.000,000. The states covered are Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, Georgia, Kentucky, Arkansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnessta, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and the District of Columbia, as well as Indian Territory and the territories of Utah and Dakota. Frank O. Bennessta, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and the District of Columbia, as well as Indian Territory and the territories of Utah and Dakota. Frank O. Bennett, the respondent in the Ohio case, which involved precisely the same point, is a book-keeper with the firm of Rogers, Post & Co. Mr. Bennett and his family own all the well rights under the Green patent in the state of Ohio, and they will now be able to get something out of it. Colonel Green, the original patentee, is now residing in Boston, and is in needy circumstances. His prother controls the state of New Jersey, but Green himself owns all the loyalties which may now accrue throughout New England."

"What does that mean" inquired the report.

"What does that mean?" inquired the report-"It means," replied he, "that the supreme court has granted tardy justice to a worthy inventor."

"Will the decision apply to the Atlanta "No; for this well was not dug by the Green patent. It was bored by another process, Mr. Rosseau conducting the work."

Receive the Guernsey Cabs.

Yesterday morning Mr. Jacob Haas, secretary and treasurer of the Ballard Transfer company, received notice of the shipment of the first installment of the Guernsey cabs, which the company contracted for some time ago. On account of the unusually heavy demand for these vehicles from all parts of the United States, the Boston company that manufactures them found it impossible to forward more than two at this time. However, this shipment will be speedly followed by another and a larger one. The Guernsey cab is a two-wheel vehicle of unique design, which has superseded, in the large cities, the street hacks. The Ballard Transfer company has recently bought a car load of fine Kentucky horses. When the cabs arrive this company will have the best outfit of the kind in the southern states. Receive the Guernsey Cabs.

Johnny's Composition on Medicine.

"There is two kinds of medicine besides the kind you Rub On and the first kind is the Soft Kind which you take with a spoon while A man holds your Head and you kick and Riggle some because it Tastes so and the other kind is the Hard kind which is called Pills and it is the Hard kind which is called Pills and it is the Hard kind which is called Pills and it is the Hard kind which is called Pills and it is the Hard kind which is called Pills and it is the Hard kind which is one yet it so Hard to go Down but it does not make any Difference which kind you Take when you got it Took you wish you Had not for it makes quite a Row in your Stomach and Riots Around."

Evidently Sonnny's experience in medicine does not include Dr Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets," which are easy to take and do their work quietly and calmly. Neither does it include in the way of "Soft Medicine" Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," which though powerful to cure all chronic derangements of the liver and blood, is pleasant to the taste and agreeable in its effects. Unequaled as a remedy for all scrofulous diseases, pimples, blotches, eruptions, ulcers, swelling glands, goitre or shick neck, fever-seres and hip-joint disease. Johnny's Composition on Medicine.

Children.

Parents are very often worried about a child that shows signs of drooping and less of appetite and no desire to join in the sports of their playmates. It is hardly serious enough to require a physician, but it is plain that the require a physician, but it is plain that the child needs something. It is not prudent to force into the young and undeveloped systems strong and nauseous drugs, but a medicine that will aid, invigorate, enliven and thoroughly cleanse the system by gentle means is what is desired. Simmons Liver Regulator is a medicine of this kind. The child will not rebel against taking it, because it is not unpleasan

MCKELDEN & CARLTON,
A. A. NOLAN,
GEO. E PRICE.

At a meeting of the directors of the Atlanta Guano company, held at their office in the city yesterday, the resignation of Mr. George M. McKenzie as president and director was received an accepted. Mr. John W. Green was at once elected president, Mr. C. F. Mansfield continuing as secretary and treasurer, and Mr. Edmund Grinnell was elected a director of the company. Mr. Grinnell is president of the Clark's Cove Guano company, of New Bedford, Mass., which company has a paid up capital of (750,080) seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars. They are the manufacturers of the celebrated Eddystone Soluble guano, of which brand Mr. John M. Green, as manager of their southern department, with office in Atlanta, places twenty thousand tons annually. With such fine business men at the head of the Atlanta Guano company, its success is assured, and their brands of guano, already popular, will be largely sought after by dealers who want a first-class fertilizer.
